

Snakes

We have been learning the key features of non-chronological reports. We know that non-chronological reports start with an introductory paragraph.

Look at the 2 introductory paragraphs below. Which one do you prefer? Which one would engage the reader the most?

Have a go at writing your own introductory paragraph for a non-chronological report on Snakes.

Example 1:

This report will tell you all there is to know about snakes in Britain. Read on to find out more...

Example 2:

Think you know all there is to know about snakes? Well think again! This report will tell you all about snakes in Britain, from adders, to smooth snakes and grass snakes. It will tell you key facts about snakes tongues, their skin and how they like to bask in the sun! Slither your way through this report to find out more...

Now have a turn at writing your own introductory paragraph...
