Dear Families,

Tuesday 6th February 2024 is Online Safety Day, which is a nationwide event celebrated across the U.K. We actively teach the children about staying safe online throughout the year through our Computing Curriculum and beyond. In school during the week, each class will have a specific focus on an aspect of keeping safe online. Each class will create work based on keeping themselves safe whilst on the internet. We will also have worship focusing on this important theme.

One part of staying safe online is through using computers – we use them every day in school! Attached to the back of this letter is a competition page to design our new screensaver for all our computers within school. This means whenever a computer is turned on or logged in the desktop will contain one of our children's poster designs! This will serve as a permanent reminder about the importance of staying safe online. The sheet has some top tips on ensuring your child's entry is in with a chance of winning. It should promote how to stay safe online and explain why this is important all whilst being bright, colourful and exciting.

We cannot wait to see all the fabulous designs and with the help of various child-led committees pick our winning entry to be displayed across all computers for the rest of the year. Good luck!

Yours sincerely,

Mrs Percival
